Today Tom called and apologized. He said I was the nicest girl he had ever gone out with and he wants another chance to prove that he can be nice, too. He says I'm the kind of a girl who could make something out of him. Is it worth the chance?—ELEANOR

Dear Eleanor: No. He'll make 'nothing' out of you before you make 'something' out of him.

A girl who lies to her parents about where she is going—and with whom—is begging for trouble, so please stop kidding yourself and calling it a crusade. You are lucky that first date wasn't a fatal disaster. Steer clear of Tom. He's bad news.

Dear Ann Landers: My husband never made much of a salary but we managed somehow. A few weeks ago I got tired of looking at threadbare carpets, faded curtains and a worn-out sofa. I went downtown and bought some lovely things on credit. I figured we'd pay for it somehow.

Sunday we invited a couple over because we wanted to show off our new things. These folks expect people to rave over every stick of furniture and every ashtray in their home. If you don't notice something they point it out.

Not a word was said about our new furnishings and I was furious. Will you please tell me why are people so mean? — SMILING ON THE OUTSIDE BUT BURNING ON THE INSIDE

Dear Outside Inside: Did it occur to you that perhaps they didn't notice?

Why are you so interested in impressing people who don't like? What a ridiculous waste of time and money!

If excessive drinking is wrecking your health or destroying someone you love, send of ANN LANDERS' booklet, "Help For The Alcoholic," enclosing with your request 25c in coin and a self-addressed, stamped envelope. Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problem. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.
